

UAE University Students' Day

Good Agricultural Practices in Livestock, Aquaculture and Fruits&Vegetables

26 October 2014, UAE University Campus in Al Ain, B2 001

About the Event

Private food safety standards and third-party certification are of growing importance in the agricultural sector. Producers are facing the challenge to comply with Good Agricultural Practices in order to supply their produce to retailers worldwide. At the UAE University Students' Day GLOBALG.A.P. will give an overview about the third-party certification system. Experts will explain the meaning and implementation of Good Agricultural Practices for the scopes livestock, aquaculture as well as fruits and vegetables, illustrated by examples from practice. Moreover, participants of the GLOBALG.A.P. Academic Poster Award will present their research results and the jury will nominate the winners of that competition.

This event is sponsored by Abu Dhabi Education Council (ADEC) and organized with kind support of the College of Food and Agriculture of UAE University and Abu Dhabi Food Control Authority (ADFCA).
