

DEAN'S MESSAGE

The College of Education (CEDU) at United Arab Emirates University (UAEU) is a leading college for the preparation of professional educators in the UAE. The CEDU is guided by the latest scientific research that impacts the education field and is proud of its innovative academic programs which are based on leading international standards for teacher preparation. Through our undergraduate and graduate programs, we strive to meet the educational needs that keep pace with national and international trends in the development of teaching skills and scientific research skills, and at the same time, we are dedicated to preserve UAE national identity and traditional values.

CEDU aspires to strengthen its innovative leadership as a center of academic excellence in the region and is committed to prepare teachers and school leaders through flexible, online educational opportunities, alongside face-to-face interactions to guarantee that adequate, timely, and meaningful provision of services remain uninterrupted despite extenuating conditions. CEDU aims to fully realize the theory-practice nexus by ensuring that the preparation of teachers and school leaders are based on current educational research locally and internationally, and that the continuous development of life-long knowledge, skills, and professional attitudes are in accordance with latest trends in research and globally-recognized education standards. Bachelor, master and doctoral programs at the CEDU contribute in preparing specialized educators across different levels, education leaders and principals with advanced management skills, specialists in education policy analysis, and distinguished educational researchers.

College of Education faculty and staff come from diverse educational backgrounds from 14 different countries working together to enrich the college's academic and professional practices, and definitely strengthening the steadfast dedication toward excellence in teaching, community service and research for the local and the international learning communities.

Tapping into its strength and opportunity in engagement with stakeholders, the College of Education continues development activities that include national and international accreditation of its educational programs, development of new graduate programs, fostering teaching innovation among faculty and students. We are proud to be the host college of Fatima bint Mubarak Motherhood and Childhood Research Center and to have signed memoranda of understanding with national and international partners.

College of Education graduates are distinguished community members who successfully work in different capacities in various ministries, organizations, and foundations around the Emirates, and the world. It's a proven fact that with their unique knowledge, skills, and educational experiences, our alumni can shape the future the UAE is ultimately seeking.

STUDENT TESTIMONIALS

"Majoring in Health and Physical Education was the best choice I have made because the department has one of the best experts in different fields, such as biomechanics and exercise physiology which are very important for being a future teacher influencing others and teach them about the beauty of movement and learn how to interpret healthier lifestyle choices for better longevity."

Adnan Alhashimi,
BA Health & Physical Education

"I'm undergraduate student in ECE, I plan to continue studying at the same university for my master's degree, and I would like to invite those who want to sparkle in their future profession to join UAEU and CEDU."

Hassan,
