

The College of Graduate Studies and the College of Law Cordially Invite You to a

Master Thesis Defense

Entitled

REMOTE LITIGATION SYSTEM IN FEDERAL COURTS IN THE UNITED ARAB EMIRATE THE UAE CIVIL PROCEDURE LAW

By

Mariam Mohammed Khater Alshamsi

Faculty Advisor

Dr. Abdulla Alkhatib, Private Law Department

College of Law

Data & Venue

4:00 PM

Wednesday, 23 MAR 2022

Online

Abstract

This study deals with how to apply remote litigation in accordance with especially that the practical with the UAE Civil Procedure Law application of remote litigation in light of the issuance of Ministerial Resolution No. (260) of 2019 regarding the procedural guide for organizing litigation using electronic means and remote communication. The study showed what it is Remote in UAE civil procedures and the study clarified the procedures for remote litigation, and the study also touched on the privacy of remote litigation during the trial stage. The researcher reached several important results, including that the paperwork and long procedural deadlines results the traditional litigation system extend the length of litigation and cause and it also requires a lot of effort and difficulty in setting disputes it achieves remote, in addition to the high costs and expenses effort the most important of which are the case of litigation. Many advantages the speed of settling disputes and reducing congestion at the court's premises.

Among the most important recommendations included in the study, we ask the Emirati legislator to amend some provisions of the Civil Procedures Law related to the openness of session, the expression of defenses and other litigation procedures before the court, to be more consistent with the remote litigation system.

Keywords: Remote litigation, Electronic declaration, Claimant Defendant, Electronically lawsuit, Judicial ruling.