

The College of Graduate Studies and the College of Law Cordially Invite You to a

Master Thesis Defense

Entitled

THE CRIME OF AFFECTING THE COURSE OF JUSTICE BY MEANS OF PUBLICATION

By

Noura sehmi nasser alhajeri

Faculty Advisor

Dr. Gehad Abdulaziz, Public Law Department

College of Law

Data & Venue

05:00 PM

Monday, 20 April 2020

Online

Abstract

The crime of affecting the course of justice by means of publication and the media is considered a crime of common law, and crimes affecting the course of justice are considered among the most serious crimes affecting the judiciary and their occurrence causes awful harm and extreme harm to be tackled by the whole society. This crime is considered against justice and against the public interest. Therefore, the Emirati legislator has put in place the most severe penalties to ensure the protection of the judiciary and provide integrity for it, so that every weak and oppressed person can resort to it and obtain justice and fairness, and it is a sacred goal in all luxurious societies, in human civilizations, ancient and modern laws.

The research mainly has exposed to criminal responsibility in the case of publication and disclosure of the secrets of judicial investigations, as well as to the crime of infringing the court tribunal and violating its orders in connection with a foreseeable case, and what are the measures and penalties taken in these cases.

We discussed through the research the definition of the impact on the course of justice - and media crimes and its concept - and the stage of gathering evidence - and the preliminary investigation.

Then, I ended the research with a brief conclusion that included the most important results and the most important recommendations that we look forward to its existence.

Keywords: affecting the course of justice - media crimes - evidence stage - criminal investigation, Federal Penal Code No. 3 of 1987, Criminal Procedure Law No. 35 of 1992.